

Every defect is caught by something; nothing catches everything

