

Generated code is simpler than the reference on every complexity measure, and that holds for every model regardless of capability

